Suzanne Still
Founder and CEO

Suzanne Still is CEO and founder of Health Insurance Consultants Australia (HICA). With extensive background in Public Relations and Marketing, she began providing individuals, families, Associations and the Corporate Sector with specialised Health Insurance advice and broking services over 30 years ago. Sue manages key relations with multinational and Australian based organisations and is regarded as the Premier Specialist Health Insurance Broker in Australia.

Jethro Still
Managing Director

Jethro has been with HICA for over 15 years and has been instrumental in overseeing HICA development into Australia's largest privately owned Health Insurance Consulting and Broking firm. In addition to his governance roles and responsibilities, his passion and dedication in the areas of strategic intent, client advocacy and product innovation has built a reputation as a subject matter expert and trusted advisor in corporate health insurance. Jethro has a proven track record for delivering highly effective and sustainable corporate health plan solutions for clients.

Robert O'Connell
Senior Health Insurance Consultant

Robert has a broad financial services and employee benefit background spanning 40 years. The last 17 years have been concentrated in the health insurance industry working directly for health insurers in senior management roles, marketing and distribution, relationship management, consulting and broking services. Robert's broad experience allows him to understand a client's broader employee benefit needs and bring into perspective the provision of corporate health insurance benefits. His accumulated communication skills allow him to deal with the broad spectrum of people ranging from senior management to the shopfloor employee.
